

What Do Students Learn In Family Education?

Through Family Education lessons, students learn :

- To demonstrate love, care and concern, and respect, for their family members through acts of kindness and words of care

- To appreciate that responsibilities such as care-giving, household chores and generating income differ from family to family*, and can be shared

- To appreciate their parents and family members as all play important roles in shaping their growth and development, and helping them to become their best selves

*Families take different forms, with members or guardian playing different roles, such as both parents or a grandparent as the main caregiver, or single-parent families, foster or adoptive families, and families with step-parents.

CONNECTING GENERATIONS, BUILDING BONDS

Showing Gratitude Through Acts of Kindness And Words Of Care

Son: "Mum, let me help you with the laundry."

Mother: "Thanks for helping, dear."

Son: "Dad, do you want to go for a walk together after dinner?"

Elderly Father: "Yes, let's do that! That's really nice."

Father: "Let's prepare dinner together."

Son: "It's so fun to learn to cook with you."

Students learn that acts of kindness and words of care can strengthen family bonds, and they can play their part to build positive relationships in the family.
